

Claire Bombardier MD FRCP(C)

Senior Scientist, Institute for Work & Health
Professor of Medicine, University of Toronto
cbomb@iwh.on.ca

Dr. Claire Bombardier completed her MD at the University of Montreal and is a Royal College specialist in internal medicine and rheumatology.

She is a professor of medicine at the University of Toronto and was the founding director of clinical epidemiology at the University of Toronto from September 1989 to June 1999.

Bombardier was a member of the Clinical Practices Guidelines Panel of the US Agency for Health Care Policy & Research (1992-94) and served on various committees of the American College of Rheumatology (1993-98). She is also the co-editor of the Cochrane Back Review Group.

Bombardier's research interests include evidence-based practice and health outcome measures in patients with musculoskeletal disorders. She is the recipient of numerous competitive awards and grants.